

Steps in Preparing for an Emergency

Step 1: Do a personal assessment

A personal assessment is a list of questions that helps you figure out what you will need during an emergency. This will help you set up your emergency kit. It can also help emergency workers know what you need.

Step 2: Make a kit

An emergency kit is more than a First Aid kit. Your emergency kit is unique to you. Different people need different things in their kit. Here are some tips for your emergency kit:

- Your emergency kit should last at least 2 weeks.
- You do not have to put it all together at once. Do one thing at a time.

Draw a house map

A house map will help you see where and how you should evacuate and where important emergency supplies are located. Your map should have:

- Location you will meet family, friends or helpers in case of emergency (meeting location)
- Location of your emergency kit (where do you keep it?)
- Location of your nearest emergency shelter

Step 3: Prepare an emergency plan

The third step to being prepared is to set up your emergency plan. An emergency plan details how you will deal with an emergency.

List of common emergency situations

By knowing what could affect you, you can build your emergency kit to be ready for different emergency situations.

- Fire
- Flood
- Snow
- Windstorms
- Other emergencies

Communication Plan

A communication plan includes a list of your emergency contacts and other important numbers. Remember, in a disaster you might not be able to use your cell phone.

Keep a list of phone numbers:

- Emergency contacts (friends, family, service provider and staff)
- Mental Health Checklist
- Electric, gas and water company
- City, county and state police
- Your pharmacist

Part of a communication plan is having a list of important information about you.

- Current medications you are taking
- Food/drug allergies you may have
- Your preferred food
- Location of your mobility devices (usually next to you or near exits)
 - ◊ Train people you know and trust on how to use your assistive devices.

Step 4: Be informed

Knowing about a disaster will help you plan what to do next. Staying informed and being involved in your community are important to your emergency plan. If you do not know when, where or how an emergency strikes you won't be prepared.

Sign up for alerts

There are many different alert systems that range from local to national. Getting notifications keeps you informed and prepared when an emergency happens. Notification systems are done by text, email, and VRS (Video Relay Systems).

- Federal level notification systems are automatic and do not require you to sign up for them.
- The state notification system is not an automatic sign up. You will need to sign up for yourself.
- County/local level notification systems in Idaho are based on county. These systems are for local disasters and will inform you of potential storms, situations and evacuation notices.

Follow social media

Following local groups on social media is also another way for you to stay informed. Some suggested groups for you to follow.

- Your local emergency management
- Local Red Cross chapter
- Local church preparedness groups

Get involved!

By joining different preparedness groups you are helping yourself be prepared, and providing a valuable service to your community. Reach out to your local emergency management office to find opportunities.

Mental Health Know how to relieve stress

Set limits:

Reduce how much time you spend reading or watching news about the crisis. Listen to reliable sources.

Connect with others:

Talk with people you trust about your concerns and how you are doing.

Keep yourself healthy:

Find people and resources you can depend on for information and support. Eat healthy food and drink plenty of water. Get enough sleep and rest.

Seek help if needed:

Call your doctor, mental health provider or crisis line.

Make time to unwind:

Take deep breaths, stretch, meditate. Try to do something you enjoy, like reading or listening to music.

Pet Emergency Information

Step 1: Arrange a Safe Haven

A safe haven is a place you can take your pets to if you have to evacuate. Do not leave your pets behind. Remember, if it isn't safe for you, it isn't safe for your pets. Put together a list of places that accept pets that are outside of your local area. Then, if you have to evacuate, you already know where to take your pets. Places that you should consider:

- Local animal shelters
- Hotels or motels that accept pets
- Friends and relatives if they are willing to take in your pet

Step 2: Find Designated Caregivers

A designated caregiver is someone who can take care of your pets if you are not able to because of an emergency. A caregiver is:

- Someone who lives close to your home
- Someone who is generally home during the day while you are at work or who can go to your home
- Someone who has a set of keys to your house

When selecting this caregiver, consider someone who has met your pet and has cared for your animals in the past. Talk to the caregiver about your expectations and responsibilities when watching your pet.

Step 3: Prepare Emergency Supplies and Traveling Kits

- Seven days worth of canned or dry food (be sure to change it every two months)
- Disposable litter trays (aluminum roasting pans are perfect)
- Dog/Cat litter or paper towels
- Liquid dish soap and disinfectant
- Disposable garbage bags for clean-up
- Pet feeding dishes and water bowls
- Extra collar or harness as well as an extra leash
- Photocopies and/or USB of medical records
- Two-week supply of any medicine your pet takes
- Seven days' worth of bottled water per pet
- A traveling bag, crate or sturdy carrier, one for each pet
- Blanket
- Recent photos of your pets
