Step 1: Arrange a Safe Haven

A safe haven is a place you can bring your pets to if you have to evacuate. Do not leave your pets behind. Remember, if it isn't safe for you, it isn't safe for your pets.

Put together a list of places that accept pets that are outside of your local area. You do this because if you evacuate, you already know where to bring your pets. Places that you should consider:

- Local animal shelters
- Hotels or motels that accept pets
- Friends and relatives if they are willing to take in your pet

Step 2: Find a Designated Caregiver

A designated caregiver is someone who can take care of your pets, if you are not able to because of an emergency. A caregiver is:

- Someone who lives close to your home
- Someone who is generally home during the day while you are at work or can go to your home
- Who has set of keys to your house

When selecting this caregiver, consider someone who has met your pet and has cared for your animals in the past. You will also want to talk to the caregiver about your expectations and responsibilities about watching your pet.

Step 3: Prepare Emergency Supplies and Traveling Kits

- 7 days worth of canned or dry food (be sure to change it every two months)
- Disposable litter trays (aluminum roasting pans are perfect)
- Litter or paper towels
- Liquid dish soap and disinfectant
- Disposable garbage bags for clean-up
- Pet feeding dishes and water bowls
- Extra collar or harness as well as an extra leash
- Photocopies and/or USB of medical records
- Two-week supply of any medicine your pet takes
- Seven days' worth of bottled water per pet
- A traveling bag, crate or sturdy carrier, one for each pet
- Flashlight
- Blanket
- Recent photos of your pets
